Expanded Waste Collection: From Councilman Kevin Flynn

About a year ago, Denver City Council voted 8-5 (I was one of the no votes) to begin charging for trash services based on the size of the trash cart you use, with recycling and composting included in the price. The new program launched in January of this year.

Many of you have downsized your trash cans in anticipation of getting a compost cart for yard debris. Unfortunately, neighborhoods in Council District 2 may not get compost carts until 2024. I wish I could tell you more specifics. The fact is, while sending a press release July 10 announcing the first wave of compost cart distribution, the Department of Transportation and Infrastructure is not providing a timeline, only that District 2 "will be prioritized in 2024."

If you don't yet have weekly compost collection service, you will continue to receive a credit on your invoice. The credit will be removed once rollout is complete in your neighborhood. I realize, and have told the new Mayor Mike Johnston, that the summer lawn season is going to be a tough one without the compost carts for those who have downsized their trash carts.

I've also heard from several of the HOAs in the district that are being billed as one entity for trash services, rather than billing individuals based on the size of trash cart they have. DOTI has said the billing method for trash has to match the billing method for city's storm water fee. I don't agree with this billing practice and I'm working to address the issue.

The good news is DOTI reports diverting 2,443 more tons of recyclable material so far in 2023 compared to last year.

'Miss Rhythm – The Legend of Ruth Brown'

WHEN: Thru Oct. 15, 2023

WHERE: Garner Galleria Theatre & Bar

This intimate cabaret experience explores the life and times of R&B legend Ruth Brown through story and song, accompanied by a five-piece jazz band. Ruth Brown is a pioneer in the development of rock, blues and jazz, a Tony and Grammy award-winner and an inductee into the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame. A true original who showed grace and strength with a great sense of humor, Ruth Brown took the stage with as much talent as she did warmth. Here's to Ruth!

Weeds are Growing Like...

With all of the interesting weather, weeds have grown exuberantly. Thanks to everyone who has been keeping their weeds down to a shout. In September, yellow postcards will be sent to households that have weeds which are visible from the street and over six inches high or wide, with a reminder to please keep these weeds in check below this city-imposed limit. Thank you in advance.

Welcome New Neighbors!
